STENSLAND IS CAUGHT

Fugitive Chicago Banker
Run to Earth by a Reporter

Woman Tipped Off the Banker's
Secret to a Chicago Paper
and Reporter Did the Rest

Chicago, Sept. 4.—A cablegram to the Chicago Tribune from Tangier, Morocco, announces the capture in that city of Paul O. Stensland, the president and manager of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank, which closed its doors on Aug. 6.

The arrest was made by a representative of the Tribune and Assistant State's Attorney Olsen of this city, who have been on the trail of Stensland since Aug. 13. Stensland had many friends among women of this city on whom he was accustomed to spend much money, and one of these, feeling that she had not been treated by him with due consideration, came to the Tribune a few days after his flight with information regarding the direction in which he had gone.

A representative of the Tribune was sent to State's Attorney Healy, who, at that time, was in the East, with the information and the request that a representative of the state's attorney's office be permitted to accompany the Tribune representative on the quest for the fugitive.

Mr. Healy agreed and sent Assistant State's Attorney Olsen with the Tribune correspondent. It was ascertained that Stensland had fled from Chicago on July 12, gone directly to New York and sailed in a steamer of the White Star line for Liverpool. He remained in that city for two days and then took a steamer for Gibraltar, which he reached on July 27. From there he took a boat for Tangier. The Tribune correspondent and Mr. Olsen were hot on his trail, and arrived in Tangier about one hour after he had left it for a trip to the east coast of Africa. It was ascertained that he had deposited $12,000 in a bank of Tangier, and, believing that he would soon return, the two men decided to await him there. Their conclusion was a correct one, for the fugitive banker returned to Tangier Monday and was arrested. He was taken into custody while in the English postoffice in Tangier. He had alighted but a short time before from the German tramp steamer Oldenburg, and came to the postoffice to direct the forwarding of his mail under the name of Paul Olsen to Mogador, 400 miles southwest of Tangier. As he entered the postoffice he was recognized by Mr. Olsen, who at once placed him under arrest.

Judge Pond arrived here last night and signed the petition for requisition papers prepared by Acting State's Attorney Barbour, after which it was taken to the secretary of state. The petition is accompanied by affidavits in support of charges of forgery. A petition to Governor Deneen and one to President Roosevelt were also included among the papers forwarded to the secretary of state.

During the period intervening between his flight and his arrest Stensland has been going under the name of P. Olsen of Norway. It was learned before his arrest that he had figured on spending the month of October in the Canary Islands, and from there going to London, as he had ordered all his mail sent to the Metropole hotel in that city from Tangier.

At the office of the state's attorney all information regarding the name of the woman who had indirectly caused the arrest was refused. It was announced that Assistant State's Attorney Olsen had since embarking on the pursuit of Stensland, posed as the son of "Olsen," the name used by Stensland, declaring that he was anxious to overtake his "father," who was traveling just ahead of him.

Assistant State's Attorney Barbour has received a telegram from the state department at Washington saying that a cablegram has been sent to the Morocco authorities asking whether they would surrender Stensland.

—Mrs. Clem Thompson has returned to Muncie after visiting her mother, Hannah Gilson, on South Morgan street.

—Mr. C. H. Parker, of near Carthage, just returned from South Dakota, where he was prospecting. He will have a sale on Sept. 11th and will move to South Dakota about Oct. 1st.

CHANGE IN HIGH SCHOOL WORK

The County Board of Education Drops Latin From the First Year.

At the meeting of the County Board of Education Monday it was decided to drop Latin from the first year of the High School course, and substitute commercial law for the first half of the year, and etymology for the last half. But two years of Latin will be done hereafter which will come in the second and third years of the course. There is a very common belief that Latin, being a "dead language," has very little place in the high school. The changed conditions in recent years, the development of the sciences, and the increase of complications of business have made the teaching of these subjects more important. It cannot be disputed that Latin has large educational value and should be given a prominent place in the high school course, but in view of the fact that a large per cent of pupils do not finish the high school it seems advisable to acquaint the pupils early in the course with some of the principles of everyday business so that they may go out into life better equipped for the performance of their ordinary duties as citizens.

Of all the high school subjects, Latin seems to be the most disliked by the pupils. For this reason it is believed many have been discouraged from taking the high school course. It is hoped that the substitution of a more attractive and practical subject in the first year will induce more common school graduates to enter the high school. It was this thought that inspired this change in the course.

Every common school graduate should be found in high school this year. Every subject taught in the course will strengthen and add to the pupil's chance of success in life. Never was it so important to be well equipped, educationally, as it is today.

JOHN S. LACKEY WANTS BIG DAMAGE

Suits for damages aggregating $7000 have been filed in the Wayne circuit court as the result of the runaway of John S. Lackey's fine race horse, from fright caused by an interurban car, near Dublin, July 23d last. Attorney Henry U. Johnson represents Mr. Lackey in an action for $5000 and Owen Dillon the driver of the animal for $2000 against the Indianapolis & Eastern and Richmond Street and Interurban railway lines, defendants.

The fact that Mr. Lackey's horse was of unusual promise and that he had been offered an extraordinary price for it was probably what prompted the big demand. Mr. Dillon, the driver sustained several severe bruises and fractures of bones in being thrown from his seat by the runaway.

WILL BANQUET IN OCTOBER

Men of Christian Church Will Again Gather About the Festive Board

The official board of the Main Street Christian church at its meeting Sunday afternoon decided to hold the next men's banquet in the basement of the church some evening during the first week in October. The exact date has not yet been decided upon. The first banquet was given last spring and proved a big success.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Ida M. Spurrier will have charge of the music, and Miss Henrietta Coleman will have charge of the drawing in all of the grades.

Mr. M. R. McDaniel was in the city yesterday. He was on his way home from the University of Chicago, where he successfully completed twelve weeks' work. His standing has given him the Bachelor's degree and in two more summer quarters he will receive the Master's degree. The school appreciates Mr. McDaniel's thorough preparation for his work.

The high school will hold its session in the court house beginning the daily sessions at 8 a. m. A full course will be offered omitting only the electives. Every effort will be used to do strong work. The work will be so planned that the pupils will have as long a time for recitations as heretofore, and the method of home study and written work to be handed in to the teachers will really make the year's work as valuable as any to the students. It is the duty of parents to provide time and place for home study and no doubt the plan will soon be working well. In many city high schools this plan is used altogether and excellent results are obtained. As soon as the new building is completed the pupils can again have the advantage of the reference libraries and a fine study room. Until this can be completed it will be best to make the best of the opportunities offered.

For the grades the regular dividing lines will be used and transfers will be made as conditions demand after the school is begun. In the forenoon the following teachers will have charge at the Havens school: Misses Lois Fritter, Maye Meredith, Belle Gregg, Nina Ford, and Georgia Morris. In the afternoon at the same building the teachers will be Misses Anna Cunningham, Tece Holden, Ellen Madden, Pearl Kitchen, Belva McBride and Elizabeth Flint. In the annex Misses Margaret and Nelle Cassidy will teach in the forenoon, and in the afternoons, Misses Pet Meredith and Anna Fisher. Miss Alma Odear will teach in her building in the mornings and the same room will be used by Miss Mary Lewis in the afternoon. Messrs. James H. Williams and Randall E. Hill will teach in the Washington school, holding regular sessions.

Nearly all of our young people going to college have had their certificates of preparation properly filled out. This should be attended to at once to avoid delay in entering college.

UNUSUAL RECORD FOR FAIR WEEK

Only One Arrest—Eight years Ago There Were Dozen
of Them.

There has been considerable comment upon conditions as they existed in Rushville during the week of the fair, and those eight years ago, when Policeman Price took the reins as sheriff. During fair week eight years ago, there were from thirty to forty prisoners in jail each night. Last week but one man was arrested for being drunk. Conditions have changed wonderfully since last May when Chief of Police Price was appointed to the police force. Arrests are becoming less frequent and all are on their good behavior. The saloons are observing the law and there are little or no violations, everyone being well aware that officer Price "means business," and will arrest any man whom he finds violating the law. Sunday everything was quiet and orderly in Rushville, and everyone enjoyed a peaceful day of rest.

In his keynote speech at Madison Square garden, Mr. William J. Bryan declared himself in favor of the national ownership of interstate railroads, and he regards this as the paramount issue now pending before the American people, and evidently expects that the advocacy of it will land him in the white house. On the contrary, however, it is the most untenable of all his vagaries and will prove a millstone around his neck, sinking him in much less than two years in oblivion.

The national ownership of railroads is not a mere theory to be tested by experiment. It is an actual fact in Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, and its merits and demerits are to be determined not by oratory, but by facts and statistics.

When these facts and statistics are paraded before the American people their inevitable inference will be that any American who could travel through Europe and then propose the national ownership of railroads for this country must be wholly devoid of observation or of judgment.

The test of such a railroad system is the character of the service and the cost of transportation to the individual, and it is a matter of common notoriety that in both respect the private ownership of this country produces better results than the national ownership of European countries.

Even if there were an advantage in cheapness and convenience in national ownership, it would still be unwise for this country to adopt it.

This is a political country. Everything that can be dragged into politics here is dragged into it. The national ownership of railroads would in this country constitute the whole of politics. This boasted republic would become a government by railroads. No man could become a brakeman except by political influence, and after he got his job it would require a constant political pull to hold it.

While the present leaders of the Democratic party are mostly radical and demagogues, the rank and file of the organization embraces thousands of men who still retain some vestige of old-fashioned Democratic prejudice and principle.

These people will not take kindly to a bald proposition in centralization and socialism. They will understand that national ownership of railroads would reverse every Democratic idea for which their party has stood and that in any case the cure would be worse than the disease.

Mr. Bryan probably has observed that public ownership propositions develop noisy support and, as in the case of 50-cent dollars, he has mistaken noise for number.

LABOR AND POLITICS

The Passing of Labor Day Gives Rise to Some Speculation.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 4.—The advent of Labor Day has made active again the rumors that have been going around in regard to the part that organized labor would play in politics. Politicians about the state capital had much to say regarding it yesterday. Many of the labor leaders of Indianapolis also expressed themselves in regard to it. There seems to be universal approval of the action of President Samuel Gompers in entering the political field, but there was little or no attempt on the part of the leaders of the unions to convert Labor Day into a political affair. "It is a day of some political significance," said Secretary Frank Duffy of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, "not because the labor leader tries to make it so, but because the politicians of both parties are trying to make it so. Those in charge of Labor Day programs had an overplus of offers from political speakers, each anxious to use labor's holiday to his own political advantage. It is a day of some political significance on this account, and some of the men in their enthusiasm may forget the real mission of the day, which is to make a demonstration of labor's strength and the purpose to be served by labor's unity. Its purpose is to construct, not to tear down; to protect, not to abandon." Other labor leaders of the city expressed similar opinions in regard to the movement. Sam Sexton of the Mine Workers, well known all over the United States, said that he did not think Labor Day should be turned into a political affair. "The intention of the laboring man," he said, "to cut a figure in politics should not make him forget the purposes of the day, or the proper manner in which it should be celebrated. It is labor's day and should not be bent to serve political purposes." However, although the labor leaders here feel that labor day and politics should be kept separate, they are going to work in earnest to make organized labor a factor in the political game. The organizations are engaged in looking up the record of certain congressmen, and the fact that Samuel Gompers of the American Federation has put a number of them on the "unfair" list shows the lines the fight is likely to take.

Very naturally just now politicians are busily engaged discussing the speech of William Jennings Bryan recently delivered in New York. All sorts of views are expressed, from the belief that the theory of government ownership of railroads expressed in that speech would cost the Nebraskan his nomination and election, to the idea that Bryan will be stronger than ever when the time comes to go before the people. Some have declared the speech thoughtful, carefully prepared, and showing more honest thought than do most of Mr. Bryan's speeches, while others believe that it is more radical than ever. Naturally the Republicans have been more ready to find flaws with the speech than have any of the Democrats. The latter in fact are rather silent concerning it, as though waiting to see what might be expected of Mr. Bryan in future utterances. The fact that many of the Democratic leaders were displeased with the government ownership idea is another thing that keeps them from discussing it too freely. However there are some who, passing the government ownership idea entirely, find the rest of the speech to be very pleasing. Bryan, they say, has shown that he is on the right side of the trust question and that just as many of his views on the subject formerly expressed have been adopted, so people will come to find that his present views will be applicable when the proper time comes. Many people are taking this view of the case. There has been some gossip, too, that Mr. Bryan with others, such as La Follette, Williams, Hearst, Hoke Smith, Folk, Tom Watson, and others may swing around in their views to that point where either the Democratic party will be reorganized to adopt their views on these questions or where they will form a new party.

Among the reform legislation that will be likely to find its way into the hopper of the next general assembly will be a bill, it is said, that will provide for the abolishment of capital punishment in Indiana. It is known that Governor Hanly does not believe in the state taking life under any circumstances, and there are a lot of other people prominent in the charity and correctional work of the state who share this view. It is said that the statistics of states that have abolished capital punishment do not show that the fear of the death penalty has caused a diminution of the crime of murder or that the abolition of the death penalty has caused any increase. A bill providing for its abolition in this state was before the last session of the general assembly, but was not passed. A stronger effort than ever will be made to secure its passage at the coming session.

White "Pug" Deliberately Fouls His Dusky Opponent.

A LONG, NASTY FIGHT

After Forty-Two Rounds of Slugging Nelson Fouts Gans Out With Vicious Blow In Groin.

Decision Was Then Given the Black Man Amid the Applause of Great Crowd.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 4.—Batting Nelson deliberately fouled Joe Gans in the 42nd round of the best and longest fight seen in this country in many years. Both men were tired when the fight ended, but Gans was apparently the stronger. He was away ahead on points and had smashed and cut Nelson all through the fight with out being badly hurt himself. Shortly after the 42nd round began the men were in their usual clinch. Nelson had his head on Gans's shoulder and his arm down. Several times he hit Gans below the belt, apparently feeling for a vital spot. At last he drew back his right arm and hit Gans a vicious blow squarely in the groin. The negro sank to his knees and rolled over on his back. Referee Siler without hesitation ordered Nelson to his corner and awarded the fight to Gans on a foul. Siler's decision received almost unanimous approval. The foul was so obvious that not even men who had bet on Nelson could say that it had not been committed.

All through the long contest Nelson had employed rough tactics. He repeatedly butted Gans and had to have his head hauled away by the referee.

Referee Siler stated that while he would not say that the foul was intentional, there was no doubt but that it had been committed. Nelson, he said, had used his usual tactics all through the fight and while he knew that Nelson was butting whenever he had an opportunity, he did not disqualify him for that, because he saw that it was not hurting Gans, and as no other referee had ever disqualified Nelson for doing the same thing, he did not feel like doing it. Besides, the people were there to see the fight and he did not want to disappoint them.

Siler was loudly cheered as he left the ring, as was Gans, who was carried to his dressing room. Nelson and his seconds were hissed as they departed. Billy Nolan, Nelson's manager, made a disconnected statement in which he said that Gans had promised not to claim the decision on a foul, and yet he jumped at the very first opportunity to make such a claim. All Nelson would say was that Gans was tired and quit.

Gans in many ways put up a most remarkable battle. Of course his skill as a boxer was expected to be shown, but his endurance surprised everyone. His work was the more wonderful when it is known that in the 33d round he broke his right hand. Never after that did he strike a blow with it with the exception of a few short arm jolts while clinching. He did all his work with his left hand, and put it all over Nelson. Gans's generosity was shown when he broke his hand. In the 33d round he landed a hard right-hand punch on the side of Nelson's face. A bone in the hand snapped and Gans stepped back with an expression of pain. He limped around as though he had stepped on his foot or turned it, and no one realized that he had really injured his right hand, although it was suspected that it might have been injured.

Gans stated after the fight that Nelson intentionally fouled. He said he knew he could finish Nelson, as he was comparatively strong and Nelson was growing weaker all the time. "Larry" Sullivan announced for Gans that he would fight Nelson in two weeks, as he was sure he could whip him and did not want to take advantage of the foul. Gans explained his course of battle by saying that he did not want to box Nelson for fear of hurting himself. He found early in the game that he could protect himself in clinches, and also realized that the exertion in fighting that way was much less than if he stood back and did some showy boxing. He was hitting Nelson all the time and maneuvering so as to make the Dane do most of the work.

The first fifteen rounds of the fight were very fast. After that the men slowed up and only at intervals was there a rally. Although Gans was far ahead of Nelson in points and most of the time looked like a sure winner, Nelson put up a wonderful fight on his side. The endurance and recuperative powers shown by Nelson were extraordinary. Time and time again Gans would jolt him on the jaw, sending the Dane back. His knees would bend and his eyes become glazed, but he always fell into a clinch and held on and would then come back fighting as hard as ever in his peculiar style. The minute's rest at the corner always did him good and he would come up fresh and strong. On nearly half a dozen occasions when it seemed another blow would put the white boy out, the gong rang and saved him. On several occasions, however, Nelson apparently had the advantage. Gans fought a remarkably clean fight. He was fair in everything and twice when he knocked Nelson down, picked him up. Once when Gans stood with his hands down waiting for Nelson to steady himself, "the battler" gave him a vicious blow in the stomach and he was roundly hissed. The crowd which saw the fight was orderly.

Gans was undoubtedly the favorite with the people. His gentlemanly behavior won the admiration of the Goldfield people and they showed it. Gans is a hero in Goldfield today. The attendance was about 5,000, although estimates were made as high as 8,500. About 200 women were present.

President's Son at Ringside.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 4.—Just before the battle began Announcer Sullivan made a few announcements and then said: "The club has sent a telegram to President Roosevelt, but has received no reply, although the president's son is now at the ringside." The announcement that young Roosevelt was at the ringside was received with cheers and someone yelled out: "Show yourself and turn your face toward the moving pictures."

No Concessions to Rebels.

Havana, Sept. 4.—President Palma in an interview put an end to any expectation that he would make any concessions whatever to the rebels beyond the offer of pardon already extended. The president said he could not possibly make such concessions either now or hereafter and could not see in any event what the government could offer beyond what had already been done. American intervention, the president said, had not been considered because the government could end the insurrection without assistance.

A SPLENDID SPECTACLE

Review of Greatest Fleet of American Vessels Ever Assembled.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 4.—On the waters of Long Island sound, within view of Sagamore Hill, the president of the United States Monday reviewed the greatest fleet of American warships ever assembled. There was a ship for every state, forty-five in all, ranging in size from the magnificent 16,000-ton Louisiana, just completed, to the fleet little torpedo boat and the submarines, and including one troopship and colliers. In three columns there stretched along the sound twelve battleships, four armored cruisers, four protected cruisers, four monitors, three destroyers, six torpedo boats, six submarines, troopship and five auxiliaries.

In peace paint of spotless white, wreathed in rainbows of flags, ship-rails manned "close aboard," the splendid fleet underwent the ceremony of inspection by the president of the United States.

The illumination of the fleet at nightfall was one of the most impressive features of the review. The president with his guests on the Mayflower viewed the spectacle from many angles before returning for the night to the harbor. Then the lights on the ships died out and the greatest naval review of American history was at an end. In view of exaggerated statements as to the cost of firing the many salutes the president, on inquiry, found that the sum would be something like $600 instead of $1,000,000.

BANK WAS LOOTED

Further Evidence in Big Philadelphia Trust Company Smash.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—District Attorney Bell after further investigation of the affairs of the Real Estate Trust company, which failed last Tuesday, has established direct evidence of criminality with more than one person responsible. Arrests now are absolutely certain, and it is known that the suspected persons have been placed under surveillance.

"The deposits have been swept away," said Mr. Bell. "They have been looted. My investigation shows that more than one person is implicated. There will be arrests, but whether tomorrow or later I have not decided."

That it is the intention of the depositors to place the burden of responsibility for the failure upon the shoulders of the directors has become known. Counsel representing $500,000 of deposits declared they were in a position to prove the liability of the directors. They propose in the event of the directors being unable to evolve a satisfactory plan of reorganization to adopt measures which shall insure some benefits to the depositors.

A STREET PARADE

Is One of the Features of the Bryan Reception at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Instead of being received at the Grand Trunk station when his special train reaches its terminal today, the reception committees have planned to greet Mr. Bryan at Forty-seventh street and convey him through the south side boulevards to the Auditorium hotel. After the luncheon he will assist Mrs. Bryan in receiving a committee from the Henry George association. For the banquet of the Jefferson club this evening over 800 covers had been arranged, but the demand caused an extra room to be added to the banquet hall. The speakers will include John Temple Graves of Georgia and Mayor Johnson of Cleveland.

Wholesale Postoffice Robbery.

Vienna, Sept. 4.—Seven thousand unregistered letters sent by Polish immigrant laborers from the United States to Galicia, and most of them containing money, were stolen during the last two years in Cracow. A railroad official, Baron Gorkawski, who was arrested Sept. 2, charged with the theft, today admitted the stealing of the 7,000 letters, but refused to state the amount of money he found in them.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coffin, of India-

tives.

A. Earnest has about six hundred dollars worth of apples in his orchard of two hundred trees. The boughs are bending to the earth with their heavy burdens and some limbs have broken under the great weight. The orchard consists mostly of winter apples. The quality of the fruit is fine. Unless Mr. Earnest can dispose of the orchard as it is to a commission house, he'll have an elephant on his hands, when picking time comes.

Miss Ethel Publow entertained the following friends at a house party over Sunday: Miss Ada Bron, Charlottesville; Miss Anna Painter, and Miss Jessie Reece, Spiceland; Misses Mary
and Josephine Binford and Miss Myrtle Boblett, of Greenfield; Miss Nelle Harbine, Liberty, and Miss Lois Pitts,

ladies of Carthage were asked to a pic-ternoon and several young men were entertained in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stewart and children, of New Castle, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bundy, a few days ago.

Miss Florence Price, of Atlanta,
Georgia, was the guest of Miss Zelia
Bundy, Sunday.

Miss Hazel Coffin invited about twenty ladies to the home of Mrs. Eunice S.
Phelps, at three o'clock Saturday afternoon to celebrate the latter's birthday anniversary. The affair was a complete surprise. Miss Coffin, who is assisting with the work of cataloguing the library continued her work as usual Saturday. Three of Mrs. Phelps' friends, who always visit her on this date, informed her that they were going calling and would go to her house first and play finch for a while. While the four were playing in the den on the second floor the door bell rang. Sometime previous another friend had phoned Mrs. Phelps that she and two others were coming to play finch. Mrs. Phelps asked them not to come as she had company. But when she answered the ring, she found the three ladies at the door. The situation was embarrassing to the hostess,
but she seated them and excused herself to finish the game with the first callers, who seemed in no hurry to leave. Another summons to the door and then more arrivals. The ladies from upstairs descended, and Mrs.
Phelps soon realized she was the victim of a big surprise. The climax came when her daughter, Mrs. Coffin, and husband, of Indianapolis, arrived on the afternoon train. Misses Lillian Henley and Hazel Coffin served ice cream and cake.

A FORMAL CHALLENGE

To His Brother Editor Roche of the Democrat, Was Issued by Editor
Hanly of the Unafraid.

Mt. Vernon Editorial Amenities Disturbed by the Entrance of the Personal Element.

Mt. Vernon, Ind., Sept. 4.—B. O.
Hanby, a socialistic leader and editor of Unafraid, organ of the Socialists in Posey county, wishes to meet John D.
Roche, editor of the Mt. Vernon Democrat and ex-state senator, in mortal combat, and he is indifferent whether,
in acceptance of the challenge, his brother editor chooses pistols, brickbats or swords. Several months ago Hanby opposed Roche in his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for county auditor, saying unpleasant things concerning the county printing, of which the Democrat had the larger part. Roche replied that the prices charged were governed by the law, and he issued an order denying Hanby the courtesies of his office.
Hanby ventured into the office and was thrown out by one of the employees, and the next issue of the Unafraid bore the challenge for Roche
to meet him in deadly array. Roche, under the advice of friends, will ignore the challenge.

AN EARLY HEARING

Will Be Given the Case of the State
vs. Wickard.

Indianapolis, Sept. 4.—The two months' summer vacation of the Marion county courts has come to an end.
The work of the courts began today,
and a very heavy docket awaits the attention of the judges. Among the cases that will be tried that will be of interest to the state at large will be that of Willard S. Wickard on a charge of conspiracy with ex-Auditor of State David E. Sherrick to commit a felony in embezzling the funds of the state.
The case will come up some time late in September or early in October. It is said. The prosecutor's office has been working on details of the case,
and it is said, is ready to present
some rather damaging testimony. It is, however, believed that it will be very difficult to secure a conviction.

Has Slept for Seven Weeks.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 4.—Miss Maude
Snow of Jackson township is entering upon her seventh week of a mysterious sleep, which so far has baffled
the skill of physicians to overcome.
Six weeks ago she quietly remarked to her parents that she believed she would take a nap. The next day
there was an attempt to arouse her,
which failed, and the family sent for a physician. At intervals heroic methods have been brought into play,

being natural.

Trolley Cars Come Together.

Peru, Ind., Sept. 4.—The most disastrous wreck in the history of the Indianapolis-Peru division of the Indiana Union Traction lines occurred shortly before 5 o'clock last evening on a steep curve a mile and a half south of this city. Two cars came together with disastrous effect. Eighteen persons were injured, three of them,
Charles White, Miss Myrtle Shuck
and Miss Lillian Richie, all of Kokomo, being probably fatally hurt.

Fatal Fall From Wagon.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Sept. 4.—W. B.
Howell, a farmer living five miles from Borden, is dead as a result of falling from his wagon as he was returning home at night after a visit to that town. In going down a hill he was thrown from the seat and sustained concussion of the brain. He was sixty-two years old and leaves a widow and six children.

Fell Asleep on the Track.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 4.—Having fallen asleep on the tracks, Ted Wilson, aged twenty, was run over by a northbound Vandalia passenger train and fatally injured. He owns a small farm near the city and had come to town for Labor Day. He sat down to rest on the tracks and fell asleep and was run over. His body was horribly mangled.

Trivial Wound Results Seriously.
Marion, Ind., Sept. 4.—Three weeks ago, while Alfred Townsend, a farmer, was climbing into his wagon, he scratched his right leg on a nail.
Nothing was thought of the injury at first, but gangrene developed. Specialists were called and the leg was amputated above the knee. There is a probability of recovery.

Caught at the Crossing.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 4.—Joseph Stronge, a wealthy farmer, seventy-four years old, was caught by a Chicago & Eastern Illinois railway train near this city, and killed. Both of the horses attached to his carriage
were also killed.

AMUSEMENTS

"How Hopper Was Side Tracked," will be a contender for patronage at the opera house Friday, Sept. 7th. This play had a splendid run several years ago and has been brightened up considerably with modern stage ideas. The play is laid in two extreme points of the globe: the first act showing Dawson City on the Yukon, while the remainder of the play depicts scenes in quaint old New England. The part of Hopper offers many meritorious moments, particularly where he endeavors to insure the lives of the reckless miners in the Frozen North. The play is said to have an even balance, each act containing strength and action. The company promises to be considerably above the usual standard with bright specialties to dispel every possible dull moment.

"LE TABAC EST L'AMI DE L'HOMME."

French Proverb that Proves Itself True in Rushville

There is a French proverb, "Tobacco is the friend of man," that is more true than the average. Man is the only being that smokes. Monkeys have imitated man in all other ways, even acquiring a fondness for liquors, but they never could be taught smoking. Smoking is a distinctly masculine pleasure, and when man has a good cigar like Wadsworth Bros' Chicos in his mouth, he is care free and ready for any trouble. Thos. W. Lytle, the local agent for Chicos, says that many of his lawyer customers will not take a difficult case until they have a box of Chicos at hand. From pure enjoyment any lover of a good cigar can be no more perfectly satisfied than with a Wadsworth Bros' Chicos.

Go to Thos. W. Lytle's Drug Store today and select one of these Havana filled cigars. The price, 5c. straight, will not frighten you.

Free Autopiano Recital This Week

The series of Autopiano recitals being given in C. F. Edgerton's new furniture store, 322 and 324 N Main str e, by Mr. Geo. F. Lennox and Mr. Edward H. Fee, representatives of the music firm of Indianapolis, are proving very successful. The 1st recital was given last evening and the store was filled by some of Rushville's most prominent citizens.

Ever since the introduction of the detachable Piano Player there has been a constant demand for a combination instrument. In the Autopiano we have realized this delightful combination, and in return have received the plaudits of the best musicians.

The keyboard of the piano has not been changed, and can be played manually at any moment. The Autopiano with its player action built inside the piano gives you two instruments in one, thus economizing room, as it is no larger than the ordinary instrument. It also relieves you of the inconvenience of placing and taking away the old style cabinet player.

As we have not interfered in any way with the action of the piano, nor cut or weakened any part, but rather strengthened the construction of the instrument, the purchaser secures a piano of greater durability. The Autopiano is a live, willing and always ready entertainer. All that is necessary to play your favorite melodies or selection is to insert one of the perforated rolls of music and operate the pedals. Our music catalogue contains all classes of music, so that the entire range of the world's music is at your command if you own an Autopiano.

When the Piano is not being used with the perforated roll, the pedals slide into the case and are hidden from view, so that the Piano looks like any other instrument. Another of the many charms of the Autopiano lies in the fact there exists absolutely nothing musically beyond its reach. Its flexible fingers operated by pneumatics are equally as sensitive as the human touch.

The player is so completely under the control of the operator that he can at will bring out the thundering tones of a Robinstein, or the singing and delicate tones of a Paderewski.

HAVE YOU A DEAD PIANO?

Tell us what you will take for your silent Piano. in exchange for a new one that you can play.

Your Piano May Have Cost You $500.

If you play yourself or have someone else who plays it well it is doubtless worth all that it cost you. If it stands idle and is never used, it would be an expensive piece of bric-a-brac, and an exceedingly poor investment at $200. The fact that a piano is in your home is an evidence that you enjoy music, and would like to have it.

WE WILL TAKE YOUR DEAD PIANO AND PUT A LIVING ONE IN ITS PLACE

Allowing you all that your present piano is worth in part payment for an AUTOPIANO. The AUTOPIANO is an excellent piano that can be played in the usual way by anyone who understands piano playing. The picture shows the secret panel open for the music roll, and the pedals, which make it a self-playing piano for the use of anyone, even without knowledge of a single note or key. The repertoire of the
